

Bourdieu Study Group Annual Report

Study Group Events: September 2021- October 2022

General comment

- Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the activity of the Bourdieu Study Group has been interrupted, and no events have been organised during this period (September 2021-September 2022)

Conferences and events

- In October the 6th we organised a Kick Off meeting in Manchester Metropolitan University (MMU) to reunite our community and relaunch the group. This one-day event had two keynote conferences and two round tables focusing on the role of Bourdieusian scholarship to approach educational and labour market contemporary inequalities. Participants were Louise Archer (online), Fergal Finnegan, Sam Friedman, Kirsty Morrin, Kirsty Finn, Marco Romito, Ann-Marie Bathmaker and Sonja Kosunen. Organisers were Nicola Ingram and Aina Tarabini. Over 40 delegates participated in the event.
- We plan to return to bi-annual conferences, starting in June 2023 in Barcelona

News

The Bourdieu Study Group will change its name and orientation to focus exclusively on education. The new name of the group will be 'Bourdieu and Education Study Group'

The Bourdieu Study Group has extended the number of co-convenors to represent our growing international audience. Also, some of the founders' convenors are no longer participating in the group.

The new composition of the group will be:

- Dr. Aina Tarabini – Spain (coordination)
- Dr. Amy Stich – USA
- Dr. Derron Wallace – USA
- Dr. Marco Romito-Italy
- Dr. Sonja Kosunen-Finland
- Dr. Marta Curran-Spain
- Dr. Rachel Stenhouse- UK
- Dr. Ruby Brooks- UK
- Dr. Sol Gamsu- UK (To be confirmed)
- Flora Petrick-Germany

Social media engagement

We will shortly update our webpage and twitter account with new information about the Group.

We will no longer maintain the Facebook account